ACTIVITIES, ACTIVITIES, ACTIVITIES...

Change is all around us. For nearly three years we have been talking about phases of construction, temporary offices, traffic patterns that are changing.... And now, we are really starting to see the light at the end of the tunnel. Audland is complete, the Firbank Households are open. Things are getting back to normal – or to a new normal – as we adapt to our new surroundings. For omare norwe For s. It takit in re-

Activities that has meant adapting to our new room and offices. It means relocating certain activities and adding others. It means taking full advantage of the newly accessible outdoor spaces. But in the midst of change, it's nice to know that some things have remained constant.

Recently Activities and the Horticulture Group we call The Green Ladies held the annual Harvest Show in the Activities Room. It was a wonderful display of flowers and vegetables that were grown by Crosslands residents. Traffic through the show was constant and I heard many positive comments. Helen Reed and her Green Ladies did a bang up job of advertising, collecting display items and arranging them throughout the room – this in addition to their monthly group activity. They have been great contributors to the Activities program over the years and demonstrate regularly their extraordinary knowledge in the field of horticulture. I can't thank them enough for their dedication.

This year we included clay work by Audland and Firbank residents who work with Cynthia LaPara and Bonnie Marcus to create gorgeous plates, wall hangings, bowls, etc. These items were on display at the Harvest Show to highlight yet another activity made possible by the generous volunteer spirit and great talent of Crosslands residents. We are a lucky community.

While I am highlighting activities, let me mention our first annual (?) Wii Bowling Tournament which was held in August. We had four teams who battled to the end. At the completion of the championship game, just three points separated the winners from the losers, with Rose Waterman and Bonnie Marcus victorious. Margaret Rice had the tournament high score of 190. It was great fun to match up Audland residents with Independent Living residents to form the teams. Many thanks go out to Rachael Martin in the Fitness Center for organizing the event and to the residents who participated.

As you can see, we are busy in the Activities Department and we could certainly use your talents to create even more activities. Give me a call and find out how you can join in the fun. Talk to you soon!

Meet Our New Director of Philanthropy Stephanie Cory

Maybe you've seen her around the campus and wondered who she is. Stephanie Cory is Kendal~Crosslands Communities' new Director of Philanthropy. Her first day was July 21.

With Stephanie here, you will be hearing more about philanthropy and how important it is to our community. Her role is to manage fundraising for all four Kendal~Crosslands Communities campuses. Stephanie is the person to talk to if you're interested in making a charitable gift. She can provide background about the variety of funds to choose from as well as creative ways to make a gift, such as through stock or a charitable gift annuity.

Stephanie comes to Kendal~Crosslands Communities from the Epilepsy Foundation of Delaware where she served as the executive director. Working with seniors isn't new to Stephanie; she earned a Master of Science in Gerontology and has experience with the Alzheimer's Association and Saunders House, a long-term care center in Wynnewood, Pa.

Originally from California, Stephanie now lives in Wilmington, DE. When she's not at work, she enjoys volunteering with the Junior League of Wilmington, knitting, yoga, and reading.

You can reach Stephanie at (610) 388-5528 or scory@kal.kendal.org. Next time you're at Kendal, you can also stop by to say hello. Her office is behind the front reception desk.

DID YOU KNOW THAT...

- Cartmel's Jan Broude's 725 square quilt was pictured in the book Adventures in Design? Jan named her quilt TGIFF (thank goodness it's finally finished.)
- the playground for the Day Care children is now completed? Just exit Resident Care and turn left to see the colorful slides and climbing equipment.
- at a Thursday morning meeting of the Needlers, Amy Lewis, Sally Christensen, Ruth Anderson and Peggy Jones discovered that each had a mother who had lived at Crosslands? Who else can say the same? Let us know.
- there is a chess library in the Webb-Savery Room to the right of the television? Anyone may borrow a book about this ancient game.

CROSSLANDS RESIDENTS ASSOCIATION

At the September CRA Meeting a concern was raised about ease of access to Resident Committee information. To address this concern, residents can now find all information in the library front reading room. There, in the folder with the CRA monthly Board Meeting minutes, you will now find Committee and Activity information. The folder includes a list of all committee chairs and co-chairs, a list of the times, dates and places of meetings and a brief description of each Committee. Our website www.crosslandsres.org is also the go-to place to keep up with all new activities.

Life at Crosslands keeps changing and improving with the efforts of resident committees working with the administration. Let me know of any concerns your committee may have and inform me about any changes in your committees.

FALL GATHERING

Farm To Table... at the Fall Gathering Tues., Oct. 7 - 11:30 a.m. - 3:00 p.m.

Invite friends who may want to live at Crosslands and have them join us at the annual Fall Gathering. We will meet at Ellerslie and enjoy local farm foods, hearty hors d'oeuvres, refreshments, meet and chat with growers from local farms, vineyards, and orchards. They will then participate in an house tour of many Crosslands cottages and apartments. Register your friends with Kelley Gusler, Admissions office, 610-388-3046.

THE INTERMITTENT

The Intermittent started around 1987-88 when Betty Taylor was the editor. Its purpose was to provide a publication for resident writings that did not fit the Chronicle's mandate. It came out intermittently whenever the editor and staff thought they had enough suitable material.

However, there comes a time when a project needs to be "laid down" and rested. We at Crosslands have enjoyed having a creative vehicle to share poems, stories and cartoons done by our residents.

I have been the editor for several years. But, there has not been a committee to edit and make editorial decisions as to content. This was left to the editor. Several residents have kindly done the proof reading over the years.

Now it is clear that regularly scheduled publication needs to end. Perhaps in the future there will be a new committee to take on this special way to channel our literary energies. I have enjoyed doing my part.

MUSIC COMMITTEE

Charlotte Daw Paulsen, Soprano Tues., Oct. 14 – Wm. Penn Room – 7:30 p.m.

Charlotte Paulsen has performed with nearby opera companies and in other parts of the United States and Europe. She has appeared with Opera Delaware, and with the Baltimore, Piedmont, Fresno, Utah and Toledo Operas. She has also sung in Mozart's Requiem at Carnegie Hall under the direction of John Rutter. She was awarded first place in the Liederkranz Foundation awards, Wagnerian Voice division, and represented the United States at the International Opera Studio in Zurich working under such maestros as Harnoncourt and von Dohnanyi.

She was born in Philadelphia and holds degrees from the Peabody Conservatory of Music and Temple University. She has also studied at the Salzburg Mozarteum, Zurich International Opera Studio, Tanglewood Festival and Opera Music Theater International. Charlotte Paulson sang here in February of 2011, and we look forward to her return.

Mendelssohn Piano Trio Ya-Ting Chang, Piano – Peter Sirotin, Violin Fiona Thompson, Cello Tues., Oct. 28 – Wm. Penn Room – 7:30 p.m.

Ya-Ting Chang, originally from Taiwan, graduated from Johns Hopkins University with a degree in piano performance and has performed extensively throughout the United States, Germany, Hong Kong and Taiwan. Fiona Thompson's music education began in Manchester, England and continued at the University of Southern California. Peter Sirotin is from the Ukraine and graduated from Moscow's Central Music School and the Peabody Conservatory of Music. Each has appeared as soloist with many orchestras and chamber groups in addition to appearances as a trio. A recent performance at the National Gallery of Art was described in the Washington Post as "lush, substantial and richly flavored...technically immaculate and often very eloquent."

LIGHT 'n LIVELY

The Crystle Jazz Combo Sat., Oct. 11 - Wm. Penn Room - 7:30 p.m.

Fresh from warmly received appearances at St. George's Lobsterfest and the Wayne Station Café, these four fine musicians on piano, bass, drums, mandolin, and harmonica play a wonderful variety of swing, bebop, Latin, and pop - often their own jazz arrangements. Come and hear A Foggy Day, Billie's Bounce, Trieste, Night and Day, and much more.

Bob Donecker

Light 'n Lively Survey Results

A big thank you to all of you who took the time to answer the Light 'n Lively survey. The response was tremendous and most helpful for our future planning.

Coming in at the top was the Music of Broadway and Hollywood. No surprise there! This was followed closely by choral groups, jazz, singers and instruments, dance and impersonators. The big surprise was bluegrass/country; this category got a lot of votes. Magic shows and drums did not do well. This goes to show that you Crosslanders really love your music.

"Hey! There is a Silver Lining" Fri., Oct. 17 - Wm. Penn Lounge 7:30 p.m.

Have you noticed that some people always "sing the blues," while others manage to "whistle a happy tune," no matter what's happening to them?

Johnny Mercer, a well-known lyricist in the 1940's advised: "You've got to ac-cent-chuate the positive." We'll have a slate of songs that promises us to "remember that somewhere the sun is shining..."

GREAT DECISIONS

U.S. Trade Policy Moderator: Peggy Jones Mon., Oct. 27 - George Fox Room - 9:45 a.m.

America's foreign policy tools are not limited to treaties, sanctions or military campaigns - they also include trade policy and trade agreements. The centerpiece of American policy for the past six decades has been trade liberalization, a commitment to relaxing restrictions on the international flow of goods, services and investments in the belief that such a policy will lead to greater prosperity and promote international stability. Now some are beginning to question this policy, arguing that globalization has diminished the U.S. position as the world's leading economic power. Where do you stand on this issue? Please come and join the discussion.

NATURE CONSERVANCY NEWS

Two items of news. First, the Nature Conservancy off-campus hikes are back! The hikes, which will again be on the second Wednesday of the fall and spring months, are being planned and led by Crosslands' resident Peter Lane. Sign-up sheets for each month's hike will be posted on the Nature section of the Bulletin Board about a week before each hike.

Second, thanks to the assistance of Mark Swick, the financial support of the KCC Marketing Department and the combined efforts of several members of the Nature Conservancies at both Crosslands and Kendal, we have new updated trail maps of the entire Crosslands and Kendal campus. The maps are in color and fold to fit easily into a pocket. If you are interested in walking any of the unpaved meadow and woodland trails totaling over seven miles that traverse our campus, you can pick up a copy from the display rack in the Brooke Worth Nature Room on the lower level of the Center or from the Crosslands receptionist.

RHUBARB! Reprinted From the Crosslands Chronicle November 1977

Helen Congdon's Great Grandmother lived in Charlottesville, Virginia. After her husband died she freed her slaves and moved to Byberry, PA., bringing with her rhubarb roots and a yellow rosebush. After many years, her daughter, Helen's Grandmother, married and moved to Moorestown, N.J., taking with her some of the rhubarb roots and the yellow rosebush. Helen's mother inherited the rhubarb. After a number of years, Helen married and moved to Arlington, Vt., and with her went the rhubarb but not the yellow rosebush this time. When Helen's son married, he went to Pittsfield, Mass., and took some of the roots. Now he has some saved for his mother. When the vegetable garden is dug here in Crosslands, one of the first things to be planted in it will be Helen's ancestor's rhubarb. Helen says it is very special rhubarb, very delicious, with round fat stalks.

Note: This gardening saga appears in one of the earliest editions of the Chronicle. We have not been successful in identifying all the faithful gardeners. However, one present Crosslands resident remembers the rhubarb patch from when she first arrived in 1996, but said it does not exist anymore.

METROPOLITAN OPERA SIMULCASTS

Many of us enjoy opera and the Metropolitan Opera HD simulcasts. Are you aware of the programs in support of those simulcasts? Prior to five of this year's performances, a lecture will be presented by Bob Rowland. He will discuss background information about the composers and librettists, the story and the singers. These lectures are held on Fridays at 4:00 in the William Penn Lounge. The schedule can be found in the coming events calendar.

Simulcasts are at the Regal Brandywine Town Center. Tickets are $23 and a bus is available for some of the performances. Check the bulletin board for further details.

IN THE GALLERY

Ginny Schofield, Bobbie Roberts and Penny Briggs October 3 - 31

Two residents are exhibiting here for the first time: Ginny Schofield and Bobbie Roberts. Ginny studied with Frank Jefferis, Rea Redifer, Dennis Minch and Mary Beaumont at the Chester County Art Center. Landscape painting in oils, especially of snow scenes and the moods they offer is her primary interest. Ginny says that "Walking the Hounds" - currently exhibited in the hall - represents her effort to capture the diffuse morning light and the joy of the hounds during their exercise.

Bobbie explains, "I started painting when my children were young and studied with Henry Peacock, a local artist teaching at the Mainline Art Center and the Delaware Art Museum. I also took night classes at the PA. Academy of Fine Art, and later joined the Potter's Guild at the Wallingford Art Center where I studied with Shirley Tassencourt. I painted and did hand built pottery for 15 years. It was a great indulgence. I learned to see in a new way, appreciate art and artists, nature and patterns and to grow in many ways."

A third resident and former exhibiter, Penny Briggs speaks about her "Needle Art." "Once I was making a birthday present of a knitting bag for my sister with plain material, and I decided to perk it up by appliqueing a barn and trees on one side and using embroidery to make the details. She really liked it. Since then I have made many scenes of villages, covered bridges, snow scenes, etc. New fascinating fabrics inspire a great variety of subjects. I use more and more embroidery taking a lot of time and giving me much enjoyment."

A MORSEL FROM THE FOOD COMMITTEE

Too much sugar each day can cause heart disease. It contributes to weight gain and raises levels of triglycerides in the blood. Triglycerides are a form of fat that can land on our arterial walls.

The American Heart Association (AHA) states that no more than 100 calories a day should be from sugar. The natural sugar found in fresh fruits is not harmful.

What the AHA allows is six teaspoons of sugar daily. This is not easy for us Crosslanders with the tempting desserts on display, but you can choose fresh fruit always available in the Dining Room and Café as often as you can, and you will be healthier.

INTERFAITH DIALOGUES

Accompanying Each Other on the Journey of Aging
Speaker: George Shaefer
Wed., Oct. 15 - Wm. Penn Room - 3:00 p.m.

Once again the Interfaith Dialogue Committee will be calling on George Schaefer, Eldercare staff member of the Philadelphia Yearly Meeting, to lead our discussion on a sensitive topic about 'Aging'—something that affects each of us at Crosslands. The subtitle for the program is "How to be a healing presence."

The intention is to place ourselves in the role of someone making conversation with a person who is experiencing memory loss or serious physical disability. George will make some introductory remarks, and then divide us into small groups where we will discuss how we can learn to eliminate the barriers to effective communication even in difficult situations.

Please note that this program is scheduled for two hours rather than our usual one hour.
